

ABSTRACT

A molding for immobilizing a cloth, cover or the similar in the groove of a supporting structure comprises a core from which at least two elastically deformable wings are extended. Said wings are essentially parallel to each other and remote from each other with the aid of a reinforcing elastically deformable means arranged therebetween. Said invention is characterised in that said reinforcing means comprise at least one arched cross-member extending between the two wings.